What True Separation from the World Really is:

(From PRACTICAL RELIGION, Ryle, 1879)

1. You must steadily and habitually refuse to be guided by the world's standards of right and wrong.
2. You must be very careful how you spend your leisure time.
3. You will steadily and habitually determine not to be swallowed up and absorbed in the business of the world.
4. You will abstain from all amusements and recreations which are inseparably connected with sin.
5. You must be moderate in the use of lawful and innocent recreations.
6. You must be careful how you allow yourself in friendships, intimacies, and close relationships with worldly people.
